The GDPR defines “personal data” as any information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person (a “data subject”). An identifiable natural person is one who can be identified, directly or indirectly, in particular by reference to an identifier such as a name, an identification number, location data, an online identifier, or to one or more factors specific to the physical, physiological, genetic, mental, economic, cultural, or social identity of that natural person.

- a) Where the personal data are no longer required for the purpose for which they were originally collected or processed (see above);
- b) When the data subject withdraws their consent;
- c) When the data subject objects to the processing of their personal data and BECG has no overriding legitimate interest;
- d) When the personal data are processed unlawfully (i.e. in breach of the GDPR);
- e) When the personal data have to be erased to comply with a legal obligation; or
- f) Where the personal data are processed for the provision of information society services to a child.
